Cheese Factory Meeting.

A meeting of the Patrons of A. D. Nims' new cheese factory was held in the factory on Wednesday, the first day of May. The meeting was well attended, a good many ladies being present, taking great interest in the proceedings. J. Johnson was appointed chairman and Jas. Sterling Sec'y. Wm. Symington and his partner Robt. Jardine, owners of two cheese factories in Canada, were present, having come over to assist Mr. Nims in organizing. Mr. Symington was introduced to the audience and gave a lengthy, interesting and profitable address on the cheese factory business, in all its bearings, having run it successfully for the past ten years and with satisfaction to his patrons. He gave much information as to the handling and care of the milk as indispensable to the producing of first-class cheese, illustrating the subject with incidents in his own experience. Mr. Symington spoke very highly of Mr. Nims, who he said had been head cheese-maker in one of his factories for nine years, and during the whole period he had been shipping regularly to England his cheese, which had given the best of satisfaction. He impressed upon the patrons the necessity of giving the whole milk so as to produce a fine article of cheese. Mr. Symington seems to think that if they wish to die happy and get to "Mansions in the skies," they must keep back no stripping, they must refrain from taking cream or going to the pump to increase the quantity of the milk that they sent to the factory. The address was listened to with interest throughout, and many questions were asked and answered, after which came the factory business for the season. Mr. Nims was appointed salesman, secretary and treasurer and required to give bonds for four thousand dollars, as security to the patrons for the money of the sales of said cheese. Messrs. Benj. Clark and Jas. Cheeseman at once volunteered to be Mr. Nims' bondsmen which was agreed to. Mr. Nims to deposit the money in the bank at Brockway Centre and give checks to the patrons each month for the amount due them as the shipments were made. There was also an advisory committee appointed to advise Mr. Nims on any matter concerning the interests of the factory at any time he might require their advice, consisting of Messrs. J. Johnson, J. Carless and J. Sterling. Messrs. John Houghton and W. J. Morgan were appointed auditors. Mr. Symington, at the request of Mr. Nims, gave the factory a name. He said it would be known hereafter in the London cheese market and everywhere else as Laurel Bank Cheese Factory. Three cheers were then given for the new factory and a vote of thanks given to Mr. Symington for his address and to the chairman and secretary for the manner in which they had discharged their duty, after which the meeting dispersed.

The factory is a commodious building 70x30 feet with stone foundation and cellar erected on rising ground four miles from Brockway Centre and starts under every favorable auspices, as Mr. Nims comes here highly recommended as a first-class cheese-maker as well as being qualified as a business man of honesty and integrity in whom perfect confidence may be placed. The factory starts on the 13th inst.

31 YEARS AGO

the Threshing Machines then in use were almost wholly of the class known as the "Endless Apron" style. Then it was that Nichols & Shepard, of Battle Creek, Mich., invented and began to develop an entirely new and novel style of Grain Thresher and Separator, which they very appropriately named the "Vibrator."

It was a revolution in Threshing Machines, and from a small beginning of five machines in 1858 they soon reached a product of 1,000 yearly.

Their "Vibrator" drove the "Endless Apron" machine out of market, and all other makers copied it as closely as they dared. Today all Threshing Machines of any reputation or merit use the principles of the old "Vibrator." Nichols & Shepard have continued in the business without change of name, location, or management; and during the past three years have brought out and developed another new Threshing Machine for grain and seeds, as superior to all existing machines as their former was to the "Endless Apron." They name this new and improved Thresher
